

Nether Loirston Growers

Autumn is here and time to start tidying and tucking up the Allotments for the approaching winter months. Its also a time to start thinking about next year, digging in or spreading compost, having a look at the seed catalogues and planning what to grow in the spring. There's one thing that can't be planned for in 2019 though and that's what Mother Nature will throw at us weatherwise!

There have been good crops of potatoes this year despite the long periods without rain. Other crops like beans, peas, cabbages and courgettes have also done well and, as mentioned last time, the fruit bushes have had heavy crops.

We haven't heard yet how we have fared in the Its Your Neighbourhood Awards. It's good to have a focus but our reward is tasty fresh vegetables and fruits that we have planted and watched growing throughout the season.

We have been approached by Aberdeen City Council's Gardener Blogger, Daniel Shand, (pictured) to take part in their October blog. Daniel presents a monthly blog on various aspects of gardening and plant health. Keep an eye out for us on You Tube!
